Elephants feature largely on any activity in the Chobe National Park, as the largest population left in Africa occupies this northern corner of Southern Africa. Game drives in open-sided 4 x 4 vehicles bring these grey giants into easy reach as they drink and frolic at the water's edge in their boisterous herds. The best way to end a day of safari here is sipping on a cocktail while watching an African sunset over the still waters of the Chobe River from the comfort of a specially designed riverboat.

Selinda Reserve, at the crossroads of some of northern Botswana's most prolific wildlife areas, between the Okavango and Linyanti water systems, boasts staggering wildlife populations year-round. Activities are centred around game drives in open 4x4 safari vehicles. For bird lovers, it does not disappoint. It is an exciting area, with palm trees looking onto open grasslands and riverine forest. This is the heart of a wilderness wonderland.
